In following out the information furnished by Building Inspector Lynch, I feel that before attempting to locate the bartender referred to, it would be better policy to locate the man who Lynch heard tell about the affair at Fire Headquarters. In that way I may be able to locate the person who actually heard the bartender tell of his experience at Buccleuch Park and thus get the name of the bartender and if necessary confront him with the man to get the truth of the whole matter.

With that in view, I endeavored today to see Capt. Edward Fox at Fire Headquarters, but found that he was off duty on a twenty-four hour leave. I then visited his home but found that he was away and it was doubtful what time he would return this evening.

He will report for duty tomorrow morning at 8 a.m. and I will be able to see him first thing in the morning.

Respectfully submitted:

D.T.

P.S. I might add that Captain Fox resides at 28 Wyckoff Street which is near Strickland's saloon.
